Editorial

Currently, Observers have paid a special focus on the pending outcomes of the international conference of Kuwait for rebuilding Iraq that will be held from 12 to 14 February 2018. Prince of Kuwait was called for this conference last year. It aims to rebuild Iraqi cities destroyed by ISIL terror groups. However, it was anticipated that Iraq will obtain USD 100 billion as aids, grants and loans. Also, financing some enterprises and offering investment opportunities.

In addition, a number of media news expected that about more than 60 Arab and foreign countries will participate in the said conference. As well as, several local, regional and international organizations which include Private Arab and international companies. Their major goal is to support Iraq and compensate what had lost due to the war against ISIL, particularly rebuilding destructed governorates and cities.

Besides, several economists have revealed that the benefits of capital and investment gained from this conference will be conditioned by the level of pursuing principles of transparency and governance in managing the obtained fund. Furthermore, to the extent of avoiding financial and administrative corruption, which consider the main reason that discouraged the contributed countries and corporations from doing their businesses and investment in Iraq
